

knew it was just a matter of time, so now Charles's hair will not fall out so much.

★ Delta Goodrem

There is more heartbreak ahead for her and Brian McFadden is taking a lot and needs to give more, but Delta just loves being with him. Her mother keeps warning her about him but that just keeps Delta being loyal to her man even more. But is he really her man? Her stress levels have to be watched, as she could become ill and that is what concerns her mother a lot. Delta will form a bond with Nicole Kidman Urban and her husband, Keith, and they will be of great support to her. Delta is a survivor and there is a rocky road ahead for her regarding romance, but she will get through it better than she thinks she can. A holiday back in Australia will do her a power of good before the year ends.

★ Jake Gyllenhaal

Gossips are making more of it than what is really happening between him and Natalie Portman. They hit it off well together and it is a deep friendship more than anything. He has the talent to be a comedian, but will not trust himself to do that yet. He will relax best at a beachside property that he will soon buy. Jake will soar to a height and then slide down. There will be a slump in his career and then a steady pace.

★ Keira Knightley

Keira has been lucky. She's not a fantastic actress and has had some bland performances, but has got away with it. She has to be careful of taking it all for granted. There are two more big films where the co-stars will carry her again. Eventually Keira will fade out and will live somewhere warm with a wealthy husband who is not in the entertainment business.

★ Josh Lucas

Josh could pass for a son of Paul Newman with those eyes and classical Roman nobleman face. He will appear every now and again in a blockbuster and he is not hell bent in stepping over anyone to do it. It just happens to him and he does not have to rely on his looks. Josh can make anything look effortless. A face that is timeless that can suit any era is a great asset to have as an actor. Josh is definitely top star material. He will want to live away from Hollywood and will be able to choose his scripts.

★ Jerry Bruckheimer

Is an amazing producer and has made some whoppers of explosions. He's a mild mannered and mega hard-working man who enjoys his work and treats the people with whom he works with decent manners. There will be more and more of his productions and he will be bigger than the late Aaron Spelling. Jerry thinks of himself as an ordinary person and success has not gone to his head. The Mediterranean beckons him and he thinks of retiring there but I do not see this man retiring at all. Like Spelling, he will be at it 'til the end. An idea will come up that will be bigger than Star Wars.

★ Brodie Holland

Will have to watch his behaviour again. He will be taunted by a guy and Brodie needs to walk away. Dancing is good for him and he did not do too badly on Dancing with the Stars considering he is a big tough AFL player. If he just danced for enjoyment and there was no pressure or time frames from a TV show, he would find it is good for fitness and agility and calms the mind. Brodie will be fined for something or the other and he will learn it is best not to get too irritated and lash out physically. He is now ready to roost and be a family man.

★ Tori Spelling

Tori had an enjoyable honeymoon in Fiji, but her mother has a gut-feeling about her new husband. She will be thrilled with the expected child but the marriage will not be everlasting and Tori will experience delayed grief at the loss of her late father, Acron. Arguments with her mother will subside and the huge mansion will eventually get sold. She will feel her father's spirit and get guidance from the other side and will take more notice of him there than when he was alive.

★ Antonio Banderas

He is really concerned about his wife Melanie's obsession with the plastic surgery which never seems to end. She is constantly worried he will leave her for a younger woman and if she is not careful that is just what will happen. Melanie will not like his contact with ex first wife, Anna in Spain. Antonio will soon give Melanie an ultimatum to stop going under the surgeon's knife, as it feels like there is nothing left of the real her anymore and he does not want the children to depend on plastic surgery, putting the outer appearance as the most important thing in life, which it is not. Melanie does not understand and will go again for a bit more surgery, as she is terrified of looking old.

★ Meg Ryan

She is at a loose end waiting for a great role and is scared her career is failing. Meg is also frustrated in the love life area and is not fulfilled there either. Her son is more attached to his father, so she feels left out. A sick parent will grab her attention away from herself and she will acquaint herself with a property developer for company. She will only feel a sense of contentment within herself in a couple of years. A leg injury will give her time to reassess her life and get her priorities on a balanced level. Then Meg can appreciate what she does have in life and not what she thinks she does not have.

★ Heath Ledger

Heath is trying to get his wife to make peace with her parents, but he cannot push it. He has tried to rationalise with his father-in-law who has been in trouble regarding tax evasion, but it is like talking to a brick wall. Heath is not one to interfere in people's lives, but he just wants the people around him to be nice to each other and someone has to make the first move. Nothing will shift for a long time. Career-wise, Heath will be confident and will have a close friendship with Hugh Jackman and his wife, Deborah.

★ Jennifer Lopez

There are jars of sauces with Jen's name on it. It could be her husband's idea, as he likes the tasty sauces and he likes cooking. She likes the normal life-feeling with him. They have a lot in common and would enjoy working together too. The real her has come out since she married him recently. They sing beautifully together as well. He is a singer not so much to be famous, but because it is something he really likes to do, and it is like a giving to people. Jennifer did not look as radiant with the other men in her life as she does with husband, Marc Anthony, and true love is better than any cosmetic or tonic. Jennifer can be controlling, but he will remind her that they are a team. He reminds her that no one in this marriage needs to control the other, and that sharing and caring is so much better. Jennifer is happy and for once putting the relationship first. ☺
