Hi, my name is Lana and I live in Brisbane and would like to submit the following photos that were taken on the 18th July, 2004. (Please ignore the 2003 stamp, as I made a mistake, haha!). In the past two weeks, an abusive partner has resurfaced in my life after many years. My intuition still has not worked out the reason why. I thought I was well healed and all festering wounds were gone. But after catching up with him, the deep unhealed wounds resurfaced and I was left to deal with them again. Of course with a lot of spiritual work and other healing techniques they have been healing rapidly. I have been able to feel very strongly, the presence of many spiritual guides all around protecting and helping me rid myself of these submerged injuries and other associated issues that still need healing. I feel them surrounding me every day while I am going through this. Yesterday I had some photos taken which I believe is showing me visual proof of just how protected I am during this time. I would like to present the wonderful photos that were taken, which clearly show energy and spirit around me. I am also submitting my e-mail address in hope that some insightful spiritual people can shine more light on what these photos actually represent. (retzlearn@hotmail.com).
